2017 Membership Benefits

The ANZSNM which is the oldest and pioneering Nuclear Medicine body in Australia. It is the one professional organization for all individuals involved in Nuclear Medicine in Australia and New Zealand including public and private health practitioners, academics and researchers, and industry members. The ANZSNM provides a number of regular and unique activities for its members which are either free or at discounted rates:

- Local Branch Meetings in most States which keep members up to date with the latest developments in nuclear medicine & provides CPD opportunities;
- The Gamma Gazette which is published 3 times per year, provides a major educational resource in nuclear medicine as well as a means of publication for individual members' research work;
- Specific education seminars which highlight developing aspects of nuclear medicine run by special interest groups;
- The Annual Scientific Meeting which is the major education event for nuclear medicine in Australia and New Zealand and includes international as well as national experts;
- Specialised interest groups (SIGs) for Technologists, Radiopharmaceutical Scientists and Physicists which focus on promotion of new developments and standards in these specific areas.

All of the above are recognised as continuing professional development (CPD) and membership of the ANZSNM allows members to record and track all their CPD activities though the Society website. In addition, a unique App called AttendO is now available for members to easily register their attendance at CPD events, automatically record their points and provide a logbook of reflection and learnings.

Other member benefits include:

- A number of Awards for the recognition of members who present new research and development activities at local or national meetings and can be found on the ANZSNM website;
- The ANSTO/AZNSNM Research Award of $20,000 every year to support a member or team of members research activities, with an emphasis on new researchers;
- The ANZSNM website provides information about jobs and vacancies that are often not advertised elsewhere;
